

A diagram showing four distinct regions, each outlined by a blue line and filled with a different color: light green at the top left, pink at the top right, grey at the bottom center, and reddish-brown at the bottom right. The regions are separated by white space. A black arrow points from the word "Junctions" to the vertical boundary between the pink and grey regions.

Junctions